

The contemporary city is affected by a profound crisis due to the loss of traditional social networks, the loss of cultural identities, the loss of the sense of security - in sum, the loss of the city effect.

Public spaces are the mirror of this scenario: places of public life are changing forms, functions, symbols and perceptions, following globalization phenomena.

The recent economic crash, transformation of the job-market, as well as dynamics and quantities of migratory flows are all strictly related to the tendency to live in gated communities and privatized public places dedicated to a forced conviviality: the idea of convivium could be the umbrella concept for surveying, interpreting, assessing, designing, managing public places.

The conference – presenting different points of view: architecture, urban planning, anthropology, urban sociology, etc. – will be the place where research, education, marketing, production and politics can meet, reinterpreting identity, improving sense of citizenship and perception of security in a complex context such as the city of Naples in Southern Italy.
